

Right-of-Way & Performance Bonds

There are two types of bonds that may be required when doing work in the City, a Right-of-Way (ROW) bond and a Performance Bond.

WHAT IS A ROW BOND?

A ROW bond is required as a measure of protection against personal injury or damage to property when work is being done in the right-of-way. With few exceptions, when work is being performed within the City right-of-way it must be done by a licensed contractor who has an active $15,000 ROW bond on file with the City prior to the permit being issued. Permits that require ROW bonds include:

- Storm/sanitary sewer repair or installation on private property or in the ROW.
Note: sewer repair permits can be issued to single-family homeowners without meeting the ROW bond requirement provided the work area is completely contained on the property and the work is to be performed with hand tools (no machinery). ROW bond requirement always applies when the permit is issued to contractor.
- Sidewalk repair or installation
- Driveway repair or installation
- Barricading
- Utility trenching
- Sign installation
- Work Order (a permit which often include several of the other items on this list)

WHAT IS A PERFORMANCE BOND?

A performance bond is project-specific and ensures that, if the work is not completed within the required amount of time, the bond will cover the cost to complete the work. Performance bonds are most commonly required for Work Orders but can also be used to guarantee the completion of such things as landscaping or critical areas mitigation. Because the performance bond is project-specific, the value of the bond will depend on the value of the work being completed. City staff will assist in that determination. If the work is completed per the specific requirement in the given time frame, and accepted by the City, the bond is released.

WORK ORDER BONDS

It's common with Work Orders that the applicant (typically the civil engineer who designed the drawings) is different than the contractor who is going to pull the permit and do the work. As a result, it's important to note that, in addition to the performance bond requirement for the Work Order, the contractor to which the Work Order is issued must have a current ROW bond on file with the City prior to the Work Order being issued.

HOW TO SATISFY THE BOND REQUIREMENT

There are two ways to satisfy both the ROW and performance bonds:

- Purchase a bond through a bonding or surety company.
- Assignment of funds in-lieu of bond - the applicant deposits the required bond amount at his/her bank and the bank creates a separate account. That money stays in the account until it is released by the City. The bank completes the Assignment In-Lieu-Of Bond form. The bank MUST attach a copy of the Time Certificate statement or deposit slip and the official bank signature must be notarized.
